CONTRIBUTIONS TO WHOI'S ACADEMIC PROGRAM

I have a keen interest in taking part in WHOI's academic program, and I find the interaction with students and postdocs to be a very stimulating and rewarding experience. I have participated in a number of teaching activities: I have co-taught Biological Oceanography ('07 - '09), have developed and taught Marine Microbiology and Biogeochemistry together with Amy Apprill ('13, '15, '17, will be taught again in Fall '19), and have co-taught 3 topics seminar courses ('06, '09, '18, '20). Together with Amy Apprill I received a Doherty Chair in Education grant to develop a Field Course component of our Class (WHOI-MIT Field Course in Microbial Oceanography) that took place from January 19 to 29, 2020 at the Bermuda Institute of Ocean Science. I have advised JP students Kevin Richberg (MSc in 2010) and Jesse McNichol (PhD in 2016), and have served or am serving on the thesis committee of JP students (7 total, 1 current). Over the years, I have also mentored a total of 7 summer student fellows and 6 undergraduate guest students, including a Partnership in Education Student (<https://www.woodsholediversity.org/pep/>) this year and in addition to a number of international guest students. I have been the primary sponsor of 2 postdoctoral scholars, and co-sponsor of 2 others, and have mentored 2 postdoctoral investigators. I have also served on the postdoc mentoring committee of the Biology Department.
